A cautionary tale for company directors and officers

The collapse of Storm Financial should sound a strong warning bell for all directors and officers controlling the day to day operations of a corporation

Marriage, divorce & your Will - what you need to know

Making a Will is not a once in a lifetime task, it's something that needs to be reviewed regularly especially when major changes happen in your life.

If a company is insolvent what are the options?

There are significant penalties for allowing your company to trade whilst insolvent. If your company is in financial difficulty and heading towards insolvency which could also mean personal consequences for breaches the corporation commits.

Trekking on the Larapinta Trail

The Tait family recently travelled to the Red Centre for the first time, flying into Alice Springs, to take part in a 3 day trek on the Larapinta Trail in the McDonnell ranges.

They trekked as part of a small guided group; on Day 1 tackling an 8km walk around Ormiston Gorge with a welcome dip in the waterhole at the end; a 15 km hike on Day 2 up to the ridge of the Heavitree Range, and on to Counts Point, with iconic views of the trail; concluding on Day 3 with an early morning hike to the top of Mt Sonder, the 4th highest peak in the area, to watch the sun rise - a challenging but rewarding 16km round trip with incredible views of the stunning Central Australian range.

Each night they slept in swags under the stars, a novel experience. All in all the trip was unforgettable, and the family are keen to return one day to see some of the other must-sees of the region, including Kings Canyon.
